ARRB paves the way for transport issues

ARRB Group with support from the Department for Transport, Energy and Infrastructure (DTEI), South Australia hosted the 1st Sprayed Sealing Conference and the 23rd ARRB Conference last week in Adelaide.

The 1st Sprayed Sealing Conference, themed 'cost effective high performance surfacings' brought together world class practitioners and researchers to highlight advantages of sprayed seals and identify current best practice, technology and equipment from around the world.

The theme for the 23rd ARRB Conference 'research partnering with practitioners', focused on bridging the gap between theory and practice. This conference featured local and international research with case studies that provided innovative and practical solutions to current and emerging issues.

Pleased with the success of both the 1st Sprayed Sealing conference and the 23rd ARRB conference, ARRB Group's Managing Director Gerard Waldron said 'we are proud to have hosted these conferences which enabled leading researchers from all over the world to share ideas within the road industry'.

ARRB Group used a green theme for both conferences, whereby: printing was kept to a minimum and done on recycled paper; the conference team wore environmentally friendly uniforms (bio-weave); conference satchels were made out of recycled plastic bottles; pens included in the satchels were biodegradable; lanyards were made of eco-friendly plant silk; and the use of public transport at the conference was heavily promoted.
